Mustang Memories 1985

What does it mean to be a senior? To some it is a final chapter in their educational lives; to others it is a stepping stone to higher education.

On our first day in the high school, August 24, 1979, some thought our year would never come, but it has. The endless days in elementary school gradually became fast paced days in high school. We have seen our classmates grow from immature children into adults taking on new identities.

We have always felt safe within the walls of F.C., but now we realize we have to look on. For some, we will never see again and the last day will be June 2, 1985, so with tears of sadness and of joy, we say goodbye.

The Place To Be

Some people don't think school is the place to be, but it really isn't all that bad. There is a time to study and learn and also a time to be relaxed and have some fun. Whether it be chatting with friends or cheering the school on, we all stick together. If it weren't for school, we wouldn't have as many friends or people to share our problems with. We would also be missing out on a lot of good times.

When someone asks what school we are from, we proudly say F.C. We are achievers of academic and athletic excellence. We want our name to be respected and accepted in the community, because we believe we are #1.

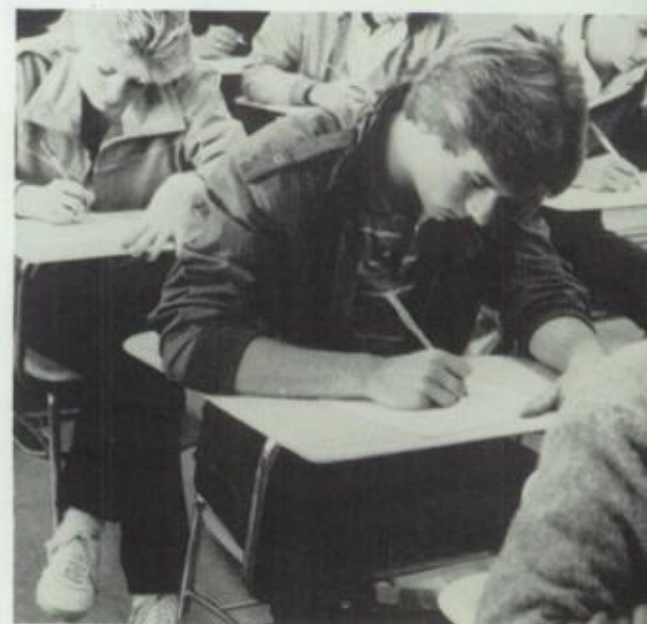

FC students get rowdy at pep session.

A Place Of Memories

The 1984-85 school year is surely not to be forgotten. There was a lot of hard work, dedication, and many memories that we won't forget. School wasn't just for learning but a place for social interaction. Girls discussing their problems about guys, and guys rapping about their problems with football plays. All in all school was a great place to be.

John Mullens works hard at a tricky vocabulary test.

Sheila Gebhart ... studying??

Tracy Allison cooks up a storm.

Homecoming

Balloons, napkins, flowers, new dresses, fancy cars, and lots of hard work, these are all a part of homecoming festivities. A lot of time and planning goes into that special week. It is a time for a class to unite and produce a float that it can be proud of. There is also the anticipation of who will be the homecoming queen.

Breakfast of Champions took first place for Seniors.

F.C. Cola rates third for sophomores.

Juniors "Recipe" comes in at second place.

Freshmen's "Raid" sprayed them to fourth place.

HAT DAY 1985

Each day during Homecoming Week had a different theme, but the most popular theme day seemed to be Hat Day. Members from each class took the opportunity to wear their favorite hat. From seniors to seventh graders, almost everyone had a hat which reflected something of the owner's true personality and everyone delighted in the fact that they didn't have to take their hats off in class, for the entire day.

These gangsters from the thirties are B. Gookins, A. Meihls, and R. Sheldon.

"That's Right. We're Bad," say J. Hurd, R. Merryman, and K. Crowder.

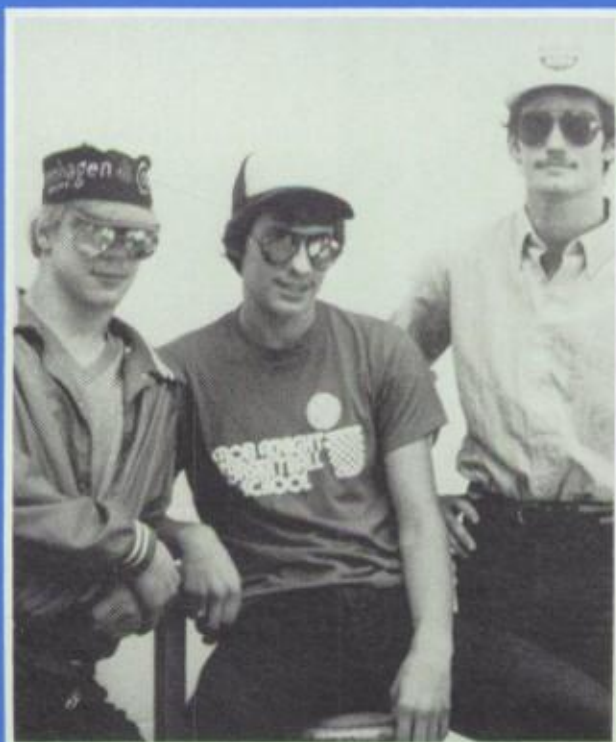

L. Furr, L. Burgner, K. Frazier, and B. McDonald show their spirit on hat and shades day.

R. Sheldon, D. Reese, K. Storckman stunned by the camera.

Three participators of Hat Day are R. Warrick, B. Thomas, and S. Majors.

C. Erwin, C. Keeling, J. Lowry show their class on spirit day.

R. Griffin, M. Harvery, K. Harrison are saying "Come on take the picture."

M. Lowery, S. Pearman are still a spirited group.

C. Hesser, D. Stockdale, C. Runion, and M. Daniels show their spirit on Hat, Tie and Shades Day.

SENIORS

Seniors Work And Play

The Fountain Central Senior Class of 1985 has a lot to show for its efforts and good times. Through joy and sorrow they've grown together to become young adults. These seniors will go their separate ways yet will always have their fond memories to pull them through even the worst of times. These seniors will be sent out in this world to establish a life of their own.

Studious pupil, Roger Pavey, is working on a story for Pony Express.

D. Blankenbeckler and T. Clawson display their studying skills.

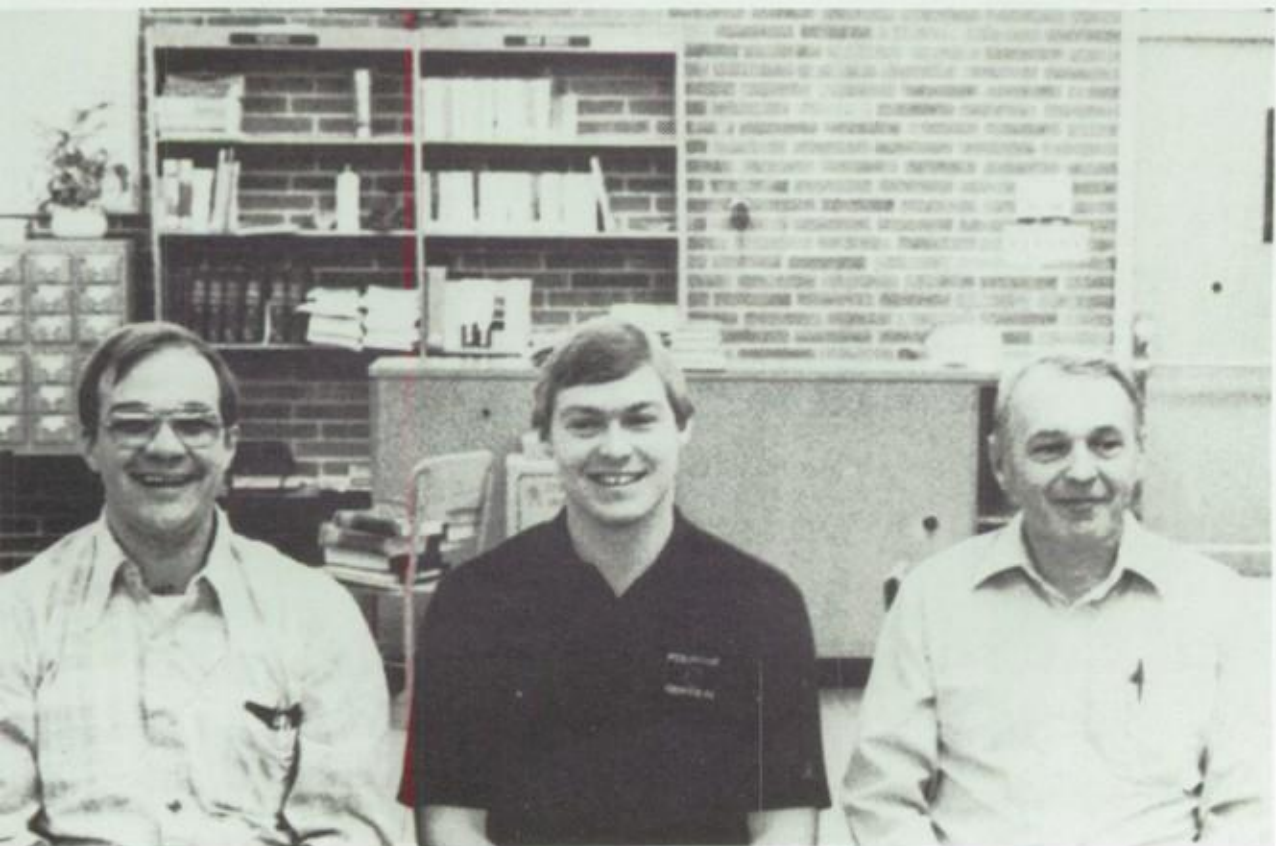

T. French, T. Wilson, and S. Pool are 3 of F.C.'s finest.

These two Barbie Dolls are S. Gebhart and C. Stockdale.

Senior Class officers are C. Clements, S. Rice, G. Lawson, and K. Lewsader.

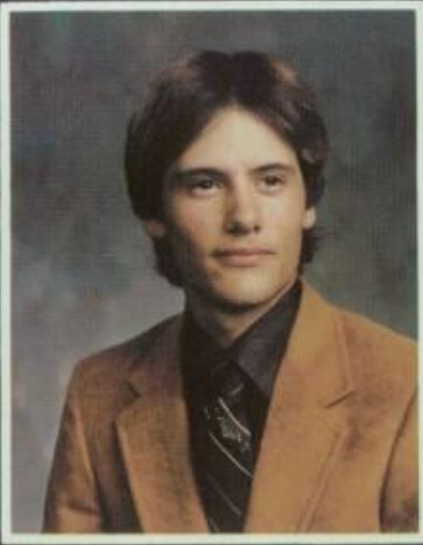

No, these aren't New York models. They are M. Williamson and L. Nixon.

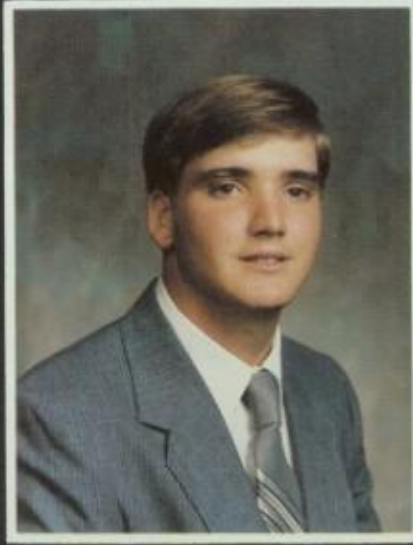

J. Hurd and L. Freeman show their affection for accounting.

M. Oldani and B. Krout take a break from tedious yearbook layouts.

Senior class sponsors are Mr. Welchans, Mr. Halladay, and Mr. Howard.

Saga Of Class Of '85

Our story started when we became the first kindergarten class at the new Southeast Fountain Elementary School. For the first time we met other children from all over the Southern part of the county. These were the friends we were to be with throughout our next thirteen years of school. After we had learned everything the elementary school could teach us (or so we thought) we were on our way to the next big step in our life and that was crossing the parking lot to the high school.

Walking into the high school was exciting, but scary. "What will happen to us?" We were no longer the oldest kids. We would go from being big kid on the block to being the youngest of 600. We were scared to death of having our lockers stacked and of ever finding our classes. But, the two years of junior high went quickly and next on our agenda was senior high and freshman biology.

Then it started again! We would go from being the oldest to the youngest once more. And what about biology? They were going to make us cut open a fish, frog, and a worm. We were so scared of throwing up or fainting and having the whole class laugh. We soon found that biology wasn't that bad. We also, found that for Homecoming we had to decorate our hall. Then we found out we had to build a float, too. Everyone pulled together and our hall decorations won first place. We had beaten the seniors.

Next, we were sophomores. With that honor we moved up another notch on the totem pole, but, it also meant speech class. We were frightened to get up in front of the whole class and give a speech. Everyone would have their attention focused on you, but, we made it through, sweaty palms and all. Again, we showed up the rest of the school by winning first place with our float. We beat the seniors again and we knew we had what it takes to be winners.

Then came our junior year, a year none of us would forget. Fall began with football and the taste of success was in the air. Once again we won float competition, but that victory paled in comparison to the victory our whole school experienced, which was winning the state football championship. Some of us played on the team, some of us were cheerleaders, but all of us shared in the pride of being state champions.

Finally, our year had come. We were seniors. Once again we won the prestigious float competition and the senior girls defeated the juniors in the powder puff football game, but with our senior year came the serious questions we had to face about the future. Eagerly we faced the goal of graduation, but sadly we faced the thought of leaving our friends and school we had known so long.

Faculty

Be it English, or history, science, or math, Fountain Central has one of the best qualified staff of teachers in the area. From preparing lessons to putting many hours into extracurricular activities, our teachers' day doesn't end when the bell sounds. It takes a great deal of dedication, as well as patience to administer knowledge to today's youth. At times, it seemed as if the teachers were the worst enemies of the students, but when all was said and done, the two proved to be "intellectually bearable."

Thanks to our faculty, this year has been one of successful learning.

Administration

Maintaining a smooth running educational facility is just as hard as keeping any major corporation in business. The experienced administration of the Southeast Fountain School Corporation, and the man who administers all the facets of education, Mr. Gerald L. York, has helped make the 1984-85 school year a successful, efficient operation.

The elected officials of the five member school board determine the policies, and procedures local education will follow. It is also the school board's responsibility to "bridge the gap" between the school system, and the public.

Mustangs Go 7-3

WIN W.R.C. CHAMPIONSHIP

The Mustang Varsity football team ended a good year with an impressive record of 7-3. The Mustangs once again captured the WRC and Bi-County titles.

The good season was due to hard and dedicated work. The team had to pull together to fill the fifteen vacant positions left by last year's seniors.

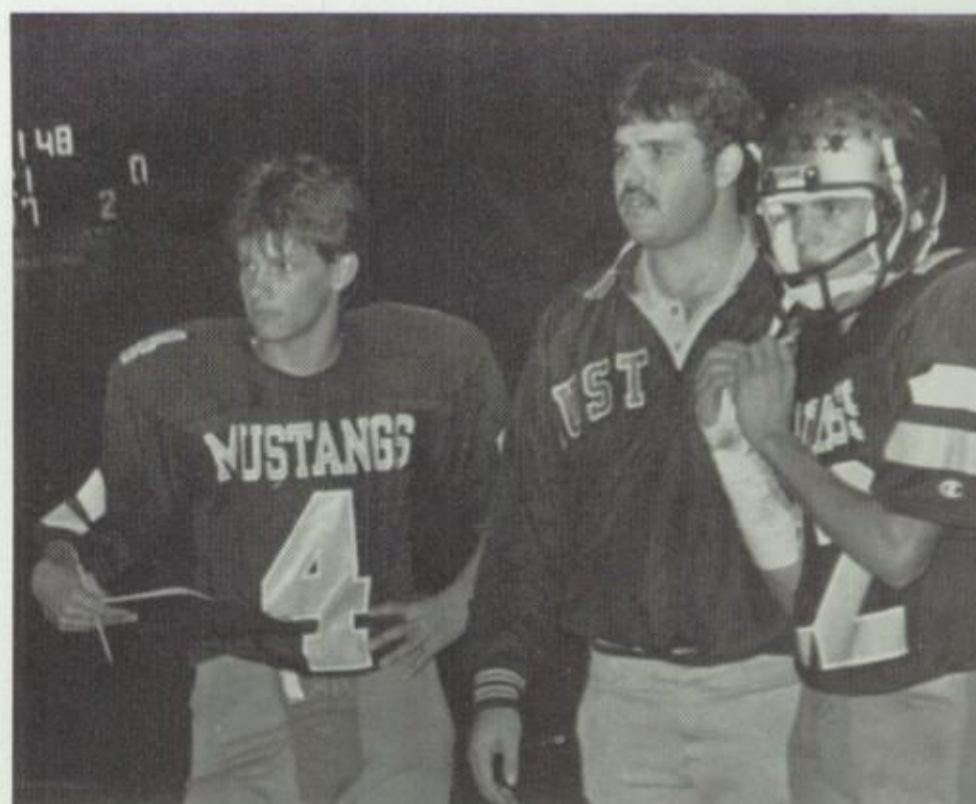

The individual accomplishments achieved by members of the 1984 team were: All Conference B. Krout, S. Pool, D. Allen, M. Fritzen, T. McGrady, T. Rice; Bloomington Herald All-State M. Fritzen, B. Krout, S. Pool, E. Brickson, D. Allen; Academic All-State E. Brickson, UPI Honorable Mention B. Krout; Bi-County T. French, T. Rice, S. Pool, B. Krout, M. Fritzen, T. McGrady, C. Pigg, D. Allen and T. French.

F.C. Future Bright

JV. GOES 9-1

The 1984 Junior Varsity squad had a great year. Through a total team effort and outstanding individual accomplishments, the team ended their season with eight wins and only one defeat.

The team, composed of freshmen and sophomores, played traditional Mustang football. Opposing offenses were shut down by the hard hitting and aggressive defense. The offense, though struggling in the early part of the season, played good fundamental football all year and came through in the clutch situations.

Guiding the Mustangs for the first time were Coach Harlow and Coach Landis. Their long hours of hard work and dedication payed off by producing the strongest JV team in the area.

The future looks promising for F.C. football.

Darrin Bentley tries to fight off an Attica defense.

Dan Allen makes another catch for the Mustangs.

AMY BUKER IS MOST VALUABLE

The Lady Mustang volleyball team finished the 1984-85 season with a 1-6 record. Being a young team did not put a damper on the enthusiasm of the varsity and junior varsity teams. Everyone worked hard and dedicated themselves, putting more emphasis on improvement than on winning. All of the players will be returning next season and the Lady Mustangs are expected to be one of the leading teams in the area under the coaching of Roberta Bair. Trena Lyons was voted as the most improved player with Jodi Allhands receiving the mental attitude award and Amy Buker being given captain and most valuable player honors. The junior varsity-best effort award was received by sophomore Tina Ratcliff.

LYONS AND BUKER SHARE — MVP

The 1984-85 Girls' Basketball season ended with the Lady Mustangs record at 8-11. The young team worked hard throughout the year to rebuild their team and refill the positions of the six seniors left from the 1983-84 season. Coach Halladay assisted by Coach Sabrina Scales led the ladies and helped them become a working unit. The enthusiasm of the team did not diminish through the season though many girls were inexperienced on the Varsity level. Two of the highlights of the season were the defeat of Montezuma and rival Seeger. Great things are expected of the Mustangs next year. The team consisted of Juniors, Jodi Allhands, Brenda Amburn and Lori Hardesty. Sophomores were Amy Buker and Freshmen were Tracey Lyons and Trena Lyons.

CALVIN WINS SECTIONAL

The Girls' Track team coached by Roberta Bair put forth much effort to develop into the strongest team possible for the small amount of girls participating. Although the record shows no wins, the dedicated members kept working to improve their individual records.

Senior Teresa Calvin proved to be the major force on the FC track team. Calvin had a terrific year winning first place honors at WRC and sectionals, qualifying her to go to regional competition. Other team members that journeyed to sectionals were: Amy Buker, Shelley Wagner, Teresa Calvin, and Lisa Hersherber of the 400 m relay team and Julia Pool in the high jump.

SIX MAKE BI-COUNTY

The 1985 Fountain Central baseball team began the season with many high hopes. Coach Mike Stewart had a good returning nucleus and some fine up and coming underclassmen.

Although the team had many good showings, it was marred by poor defense and a poor record. Even though, FC finished with a 1-2 record in the Bi-county, there were six players recognized for their individual performances. Named to the All Bi-County team were Derrek Patton, Donald Wilson, Rob Brimbury, Jeff Roberts, Chris Bailey, and Darrel Abney. Fountain Central placed more players than any other team on the All Bi-County squad.

Fountain Central's offensive attack was potent. Its team batting average hovered around .300 all season. With much improved pitching, Fountain Central became very competitive. Congratulations to the team and coaching staff for all of their hard work and determination.

Three Cheers For F.C. High

WE HAVE THE BEST TEAM, NONE CAN DENY

Go Big Blue!!

Being a cheerleader can be a lot of fun but it does involve work. The cheerleaders' main responsibility is to raise the schools' spirit, but along with doing that there are other jobs they do. Some of these involve decorating for the sports banquets, setting up spirit days, making up new cheers and chants, and hanging signs.

This years' squad had three senior members that were honored with the ballplayers on Senior Night. They were Dawn Robbins, Missy Oldani, and Lisa Keeling. Their parents accompanied them onto the floor where they were thanked for their six years of dedication to F.C.

Students Achieve

NHS AND STUDENT COUNCIL

Student leaders at Fountain Central can be found in the student councils and in the National Honor Society. This year the student council was in charge of all Homecoming activities, which included, powderpuff football, float competition and the queen coronation. Then during the Christmas season the council swung into action again. Members were responsible for the tree in the cafeteria and they also brought Santa to F.C. Santa was very welcomed and many people took the opportunity to be photographed with the white-bearded Mr. Barton.

The National Honor Society represents the best Fountain Central has to offer. Its members are selected for outstanding achievement in scholarship, leadership, character and service. The 1985 induction of members was held on April 8th, with fifteen new students joining the ranks of the NHS.

SERVICE IS OUR MOTTO

The Sunshine Society consists of 17 members. The Society exists to serve the school and the community and its motto is "others". The Fountain Central chapter demonstrates this motto by serving others in many ways. Its members visit nursing homes and deliver fruit to the elderly. At school the Society sponsors Sunshine Week, during which time it holds special days for students, faculty members, administrators, secretaries, cooks and bus drivers.

A highlight of spring is the Ideal Ladies Tea. Each girl in the Society selects a special woman she looks up to. During the year she honors this person and at the tea in the spring the ideal ladies receive special recognition.

A Sweetheart Dance and a Senior Breakfast are other functions sponsored by the Sunshine Society. This year's president, Krissi Lewsader, expresses the very spirit of the organization when she stated, "In the four years that I have been in Sunshine I have learned a lot about caring for others and I have enjoyed the club very much."

This year's band, under the direction of Mr. Francis Vile, has seen a great deal of improvement. The high school symphonic band performed at a total of three concerts, one of which was the district concert band contest. They also performed at commencement exercises, as usual. The pep band helped boost school spirit by playing at all high school home varsity basketball games.

The junior high bands performed three concerts and held one assembly. Mr. William K. Wakefield, director of bands at Indiana State University guest directed one of the concerts.

Say It With Song

CHOIR MAKES IT HAPPEN

The choral music department had an exceptionally busy year. The Yuletide Feast was presented in December displaying all the pomp and festivities of 14th century England with the high school choir portraying members of the Royal Court. The junior high choirs sang carols for the guests. A winter concert with the bands was so well attended that future concerts were divided with junior high and high school choirs having separate concerts. The junior choirs worked hard on singing and "show choir" techniques, learning several kinds of choreography. The high school choir joined other area school choirs at Turkey Run High School in April for a Choral Festival. The guest conductor was Mr. Mike Wade from Crown Point H.S.

Sophs Master Speech

The sophomores discovered that the mandatory speech classes weren't really all that bad. Some student speeches even proved to be informative. After all, in what other class can you learn about such a wide variety of things? Such topics from over-population in South Africa to baking cookies could be discussed on any given day.

When walking by the speech class, if you look through the window and see someone who looks as if they are experiencing convulsions, don't run to the office to call the paramedics. Chances are it is just an excellent public speaker who forgot to write his speech. Some of the most studious speakers occasionally got so nervous that when they shook it measured on the richter scale.

Center B. Carlson demonstrates the use of a projector.

D. Abney shows his knowledge of cameras.

D. Evans, A. Buker, and J. Lewsader are researching in the library.

J. Booe makes cookies.

C. Harper displays her valuable comic books.

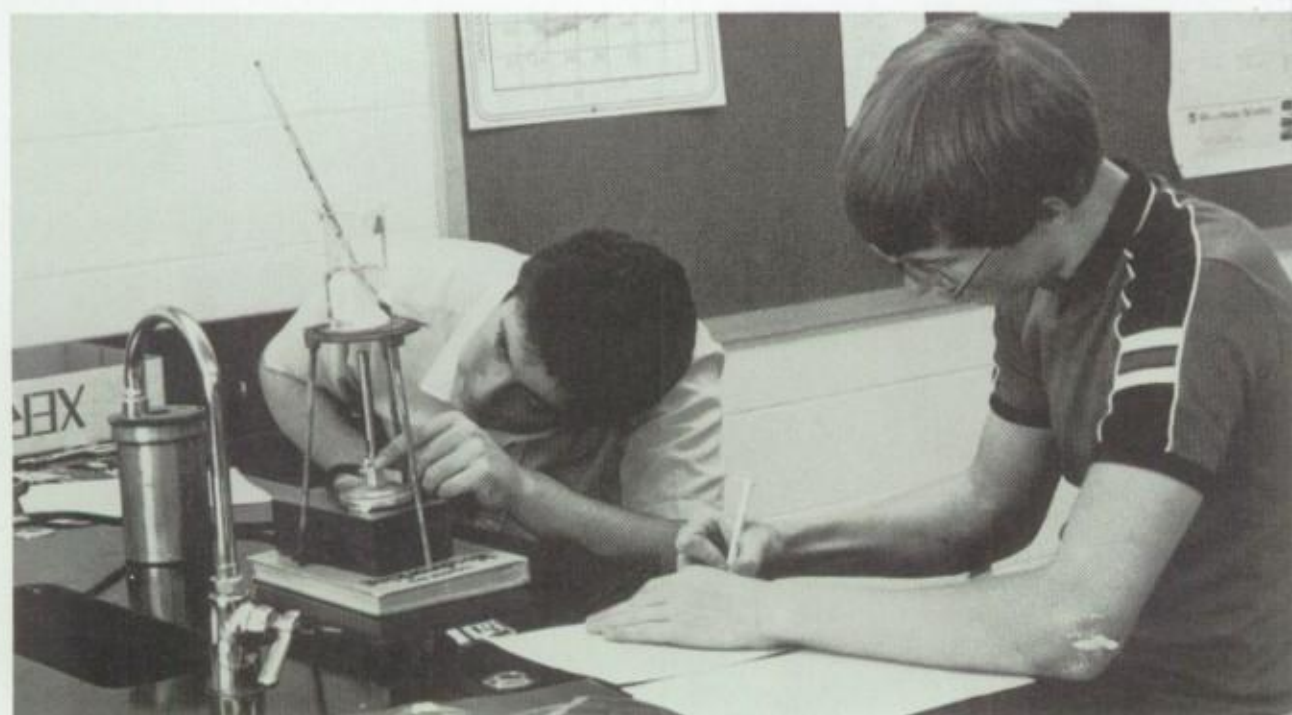

Exploring With Science

If you want to dissect a shark or perform a chemical experiment, then the science department is the place for you. From complicated formulas to lab projects that smell and look disgusting, students learn something they will use throughout the rest of their lives. After all, you never know, someday while walking down the street somebody might ask you if you can produce oxygen by using water displacement, or identify the vital organs of a fish. You will be able to thank the expert training of the science department.

So, if you happen to see an escaped frog hopping down the seventh grade hall, or black smoke rolling out Mr. Golson's windows don't despair. Everything is under control.

C. Clements and M. Fritzen await further instructions.

A. Zachery adjusts burner as B. Cox takes notes.

Bringing Words Alive!

Communications is the key to success. From producing a yearbook to studying Shakespeare and from preparing students for a trip to France to organizing a student media through the Pony Express, Fountain Central's English and foreign language departments prepare students to communicate around the world, or to better express themselves here at home.

The English classes studied the literature of yesteryear which provides students with a history of common life of the past. Foreign language classes taught the basics of their languages, and although one might not remember who John Donne was, or what "zapato" means in Spanish, a valuable skill is learned. Being able to communicate accurately, "to be, or not to be."

Dawn Campbell, Janice Clift, and Lori Hardesty are expanding their vocabulary knowledge.

Tracy Brown and Melissa Cork practice their French conversational skills.

Mr. Barton establishes camera shots with Melanie Keller, Brenda Carpenter, Diana Green.

Ted Linzie, Kevin Crowder, Richie Green and Ray Griffin study in the library.

Mrs. Green is assisting Diane Oakley, and Becky Throckmorton.

Achieving By Creating

From brownies to oil paintings, you never know just what kind of creation you might find in Fountain Central's home-ec and art departments.

Home-ec offers the kind of training needed for everyday life. Many students know from first-hand experience that practice makes perfect. For example, clothing made in the sewing lab doesn't always fit just right, and nobody particularly cares for salty pancakes. Yet, when the flour settles, whether the project was good or bad, you could always say, "I did it."

The art department offers students a chance to re-create the world around them, as they see it. Although they don't cook or sew, they can preserve a bowl of fruit forever by painting it on canvas.

Top: A. Keyes, T. Brown, A. Worley, and L. Million wait for cheese.

Right: D. Colbert, J. Nine, B. Cox and M. Davis observe the tasting.

Far right: S. Meilenz, G. Carver, and M. Garrigus work in Home ec.

Bottom: J. Lewsader concentrates on her sewing project.

Computing For Success

Four score and seven years ago, and even farther back than that, many interesting and important things happened. Learning from the experiences of the past, both good and bad, we can be better prepared for the future. From war stories to Davy Jones' locker, and from Columbus to Vietnam, Fountain Central's history department offers a great deal.

Although Fountain Central's business department doesn't teach us about famous men, it teaches us how to keep financial records as history for future use. The business department offers excellent training for students interested in pursuing a career in the promising field of business.

Granted, health classes can teach you to be healthy, but business can make you wealthy, while history makes you wise.

Upper Right: K. Downs and S. Austin works on their programs.

Upper Left: French I class broadens its vocabulary.

Right: M. Harvey and T. Linzie anxiously type their assignment.

Left: Mrs. Holt instructs about U.S. History.

Middle Right: Mrs. DeAth assists her class.

Bottom Left: A. Wiggins and K. Dalle work on program.

Building Our World

When walking through the freshman hall, it might appear as if a blizzard is suddenly heading your way. Never fear, it's just sawdust coming from the shop and if you happen to see someone wandering around with black gunk up to their elbows, they haven't been sweeping chimneys; they have been printing the school's newspaper in the print shop.

Students learn to work wood into gunracks, cedar chests, and many other useful things in the school's shop. Drafting classes provide basic architectural skills to students, while also demonstrating elements of style. The graphic arts classes not only print the school's newspaper, but they also print business cards and forms for local businesses.

Fountain Central's industrial arts' department provides students with perhaps the most lasting form of learning — hands on training.

Lower Center: J. Wann displays his project.

Lower Left: J. Gosset prepares a negative.

Welding

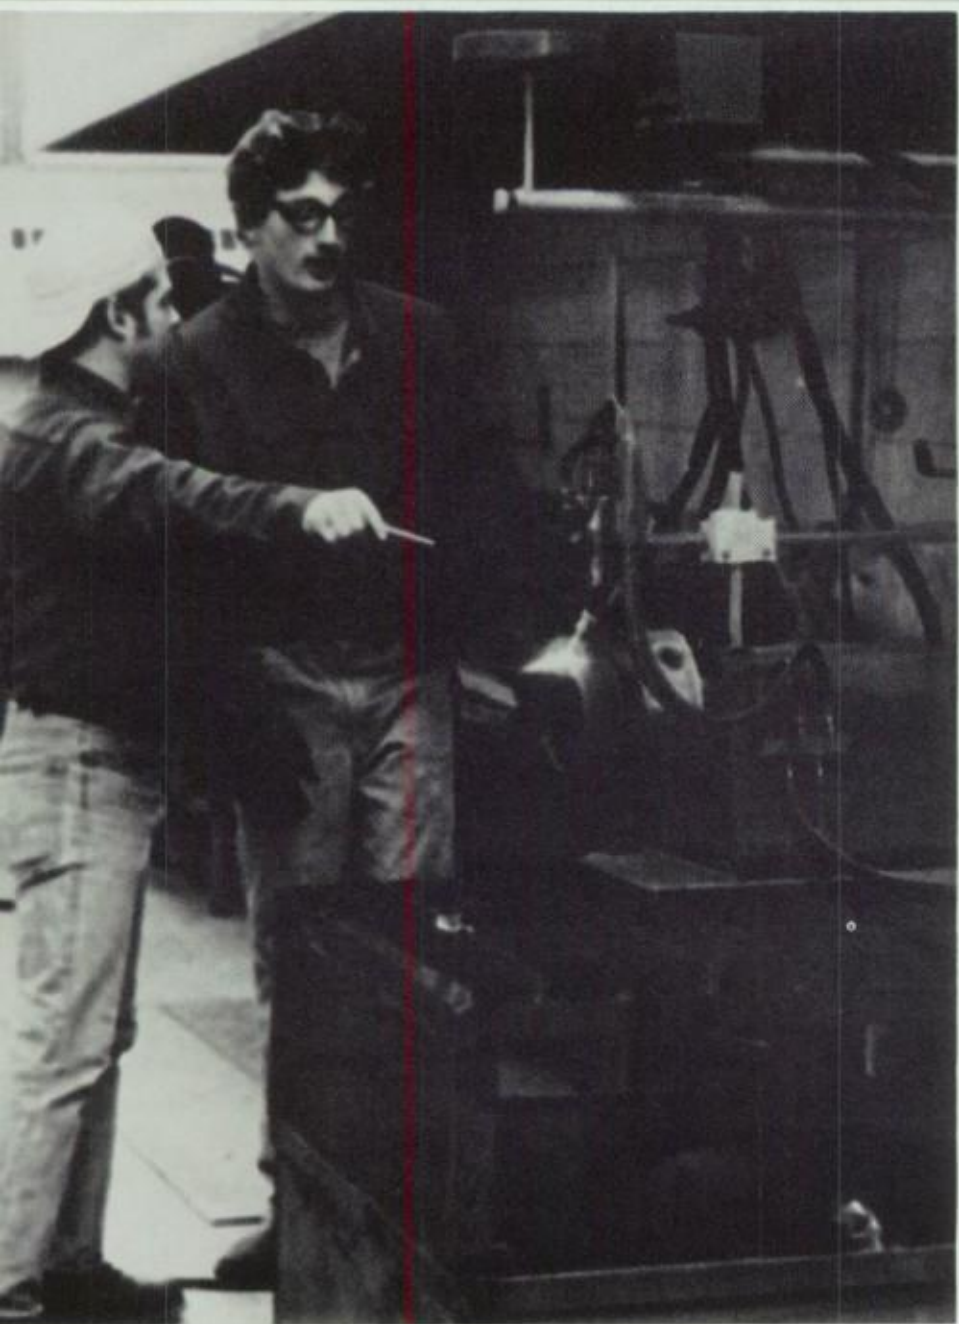

Preparing for the future, that is the goal of the vocational welding class at Fountain Central. Combining students from four area schools, this two-year program trains young men for jobs in local industry. By the end of the two-year period the students have had many hours of actual hands-on training, supervised by instructor Richard McNeeley. Seniors Bill Mortimore, Brian Williams, Bob Ford, James Gosnell, and Brian Stockdale represented the welding class at the "1985 Indiana-Kentucky Welding Classic" where they received top honors.

Reed, Bishop, Woodrow, Peevler, Haymaker, Juliek, Auter, Nave, Rowe, Lockhart, Tuggle, Phillips, Noggle, Campbell.

Wann, Allison, Gosnell, Schmit, Gosset, Ford, Stockdale, McGrady, French, Davenport, Williams, Lambert, Mortimore, Fox.

This year marks the ninth annual Fountain Trust Awards Banquet sponsored by the Fountain Trust Company. This awards program was started in 1977 when the Fountain Trust Company, after consulting with school officials, decided to inaugurate a program which they hoped would encourage academic effort.

A student who receives an award from Fountain Central is truly deserving, as Fountain Central High School is known in the area to have high academic standards.

Fountain Central High School wishes to express its appreciation to the Fountain Trust Company for its interest in and encouragement of our student's academic endeavors. Together we extend our congratulations to this year's award recipients.

Drama Club

The Fountain Central Drama Club had a big year. For the first time ever, the club presented two plays in a single year. In February, they presented Glimpses, a series of skits and monologues showing different out looks on life. On May 11 the Drama Club presented excerpts from Glimpses at the Wabash Valley Arts Festival.

On May 17 and 18 the club presented a second play, The Curious Savage. This was the story of a woman who was committed to a home for mentally disturbed people by her three greedy children.

Mrs. Savage gets revenge by biting Lilly Belle for attempting to take her teddy bear.

Cast: B. Throckmorton, J. Hershberger, J. Hallet, J. Allhands, L. Nixon, C. Clements, J. Lewsader, and D. Evans. (Back): T. Runion, Mrs. Ross, R. Pavey, C. Klutzke, R. Pickett, L. Colson, and S. Starkey.

Juniors Dedicate Prom To Seniors

[Poem to the Seniors]

Another year goes passing by Another Prom is here
To some this brings a joyous smile
To others, brings a tear
For four years you have tread a path
From dawn to setting sun
But now the path gets steeper
And the climb is just begun.
We're very glad to know you
We'll miss you when you've gone
And to the Class of '85
We dedicate our Prom.

Graduation 1985

Valedictorian

Carl Klutzke

The big day has finally arrived! It seems like only months ago that we came to this new school where we had no recess. It was only weeks ago that we were dissecting worms and frogs, and running around in gym. It was only yesterday that we went to U.S. History to do worksheets and battle charts. Now that is all over.

But this is more than the end. We are now free to choose what we want to do, to seek employment, continue our education, or raise a family. This phase is over; now we start again.

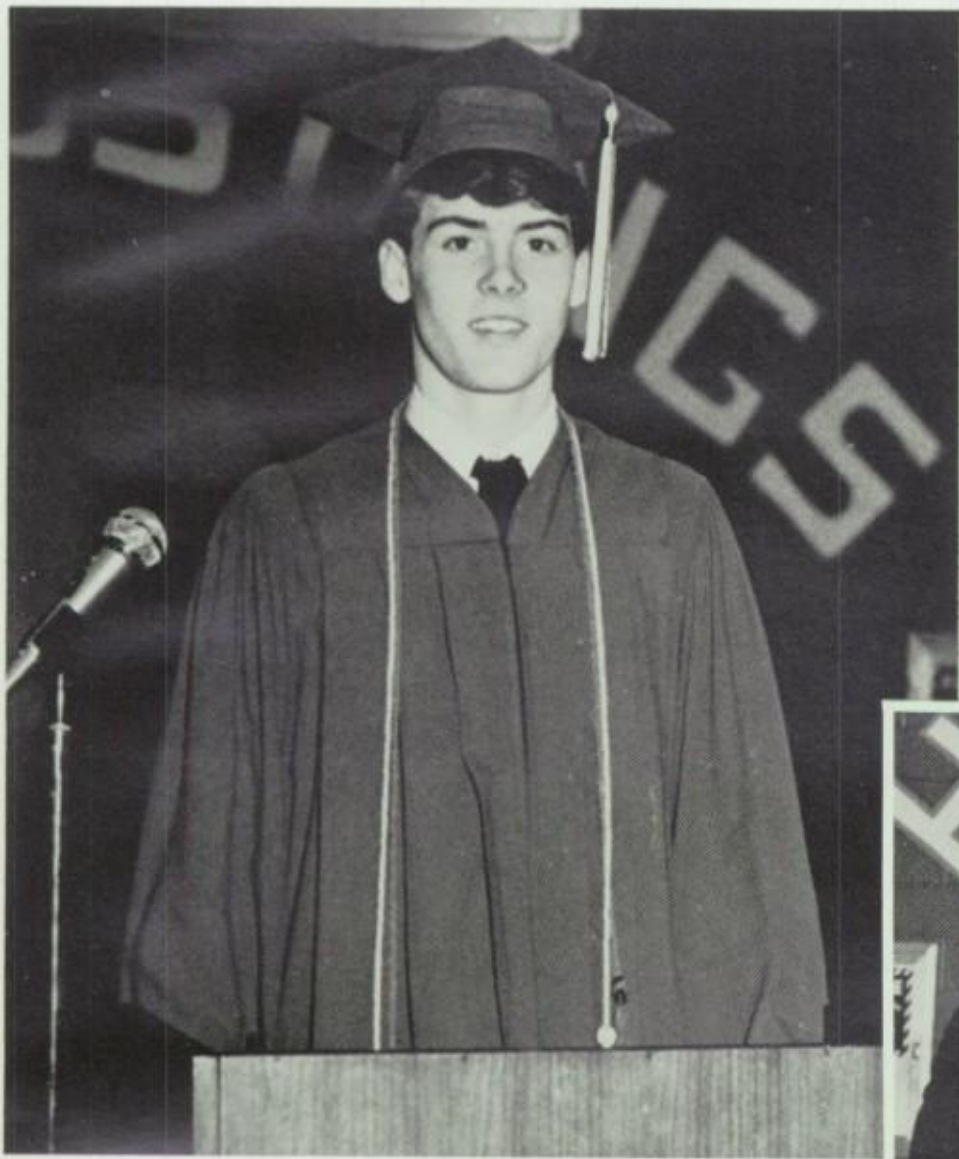

Stacey Rice and Trent Rice march to their future.

Cara Stockdale receives her diploma from school board member, Byron Rice.

SALUTATORIAN GRAY LAWSON

Krissi Lewsader gave the benediction and Carla Clements introduced the speakers at graduation.

Mr. York pronounced the Class of 85 graduates of Fountain Central.
